- A 30-day launch plan (p.9)
- Prompt pack: 12 prompts that save hours (p.10)
- Budget stacks: $0, $50, $150/month (p.11)

1. The creator stack: what you actually need

Most creators overbuy tools. A working stack has five layers, and you can start every one of them free:

- Own your audience: an email list. Social reach is rented; email is owned.
- Make content faster: one AI assistant for drafting and research.
- Make it look good: one design tool.
- Distribute: one scheduler or a simple manual routine.
- Monetize: affiliate links, a digital product, sponsorships or a paid tier.

Rule of thumb: do not add a paid tool until a free one is clearly costing you time or money. Every tool in this guide has a free plan or a trial.

How we pick

We compare free plans, pricing at 1,000 and 10,000 subscribers, ease of setup, export options (can you leave?), and real user reviews. We note trade-offs for every pick. If a better tool appears, we change the recommendation.

2. Newsletter platform: beehiiv (our top pick) beehiiv is a newsletter-first platform built for growth. Each issue is sent as an email and published as a web post, so your archive gets found in search.

- Free plan with website, editor, and analytics. Enough to launch.
- Growth tools: referral program, Recommendations network, boosts.
- Monetization: built-in ad network, paid subscriptions.
- Trade-offs: best growth features are on paid tiers; no native course hosting.

Reader offer: sign up through our link for a 14-day trial of paid features plus 20% off your first 3 months.

Quick setup checklist

- Name + one-line promise
- Sender name and reply-to set
- Welcome email that asks one question
- Subscribe link in every social bio
- Referral program on at ~100 readers

3. All-in-one: Systeme.io

Systeme.io bundles funnels, email marketing, course hosting, a basic site builder and checkout in one dashboard, with a free plan.

- Great for: selling a course, template pack or coaching offer without stitching five tools together.
- Free plan includes funnels, email and a course.
- Trade-offs: templates and design control are more limited than specialist tools; newsletter growth tools are lighter than beehiiv.

beehiiv or Systeme.io?

If you mainly...	Pick
Publish a weekly newsletter	beehiiv
Sell a course / digital product	Systeme.io
Want ad revenue from your list	beehiiv
Need checkout + upsells	Systeme.io
Do both	beehiiv for the list, Systeme.io for sales pages

4. AI writing & research

- ChatGPT (chatgpt.com): drafting, outlining, repurposing. Trade-off: generic voice unless you give examples.
- Claude (claude.ai): long documents, editing, careful tone.
- Perplexity (perplexity.ai): research with cited sources. Always open the sources.
- Grammarly (grammarly.com): final polish.

Workflow that works

- Research with citations → verify the 2-3 facts you will use.
- Outline yourself (your angle is the value).
- Let AI draft sections; rewrite intro and conclusion in your own voice.
- Run a "make it shorter by 30%" pass.
- Fact-check numbers and prices before publishing.

Honesty note: AI confidently invents facts. Never publish a stat or price you have not checked at the source.

5. AI voice, video & images

- ElevenLabs (elevenlabs.io): very natural voiceover for faceless video and audio versions of posts.
Trade-off: character limits add up.
- CapCut (capcut.com): fast short-video editing with auto-captions.
- Descript (descript.com): edit video by editing the transcript.
- OpusClip (opus.pro): cut long videos into shorts.
- Midjourney (midjourney.com) / image tools: thumbnails and visuals. Check usage rights.

Faceless short-video recipe

- Hook in under 2 seconds (a number or a surprising claim you can back up).
- 3 points, one per 5-8 seconds.
- Burned-in captions (most people watch muted).
- One call to action: "free toolkit in bio".
- Disclose: "#ad" if the video promotes an affiliate link.

6. Design, repurposing & scheduling

- Canva (canva.com): pins, carousels, thumbnails, PDF lead magnets.
- Buffer (buffer.com): simple free scheduling across networks.
- Notion (notion.so): content calendar and idea bank.

The 1 → 10 repurposing loop

One newsletter issue becomes: 3 X posts, 1 thread, 2 Pinterest pins, 1 short video, 1 LinkedIn post, 1 blog post, and a quote graphic. Write once, distribute for a week. Every piece ends with one link: your subscribe page.

7. Privacy, hosting & the boring essentials

- NordVPN (nordvpn.com): for public Wi-Fi while traveling. Trade-off: renewal prices are higher than intro.
- Hostinger (hostinger.com): cheap first host for a WordPress blog.
- Cloudflare Pages (pages.cloudflare.com): free static site hosting.
- Bitwarden (bitwarden.com): password manager. Use 2FA everywhere.
- Email authentication: set up SPF, DKIM and DMARC on your custom domain for deliverability.
- Disclosures: follow FTC rules: clear, close to the link, every time.

8. A 30-day launch plan

Week	Do this
1	Pick niche + promise. Create a free beehiiv publication. Write welcome email. Put subscribe link in every bio.
2	Publish issue #1. Repurpose into 5 social posts. Make a simple lead magnet (checklist/PDF).
3	Publish issue #2. Pitch 3 similar newsletters for cross-recommendations. Start 2 pins/day.
4	Publish issue #3. Review analytics: best topic, best source. Add 1-2 disclosed affiliate links to tools you use.

Benchmarks to watch: open rate, click rate, subscribers per week, and which source each subscriber came from. Double down on the top source.

9. Prompt pack: 12 prompts that save hours

1. "Give me 20 newsletter topic ideas for [audience] who struggle with [problem]. Rank by search demand."
2. "Turn this outline into a 600-word issue in a friendly, plain-English voice. Keep my headings."
3. "Write 10 subject lines under 45 characters for this issue. No clickbait."
4. "Rewrite this intro so the first sentence states the benefit."
5. "Repurpose this issue into 5 X posts under 260 characters, each standalone."
6. "Write 3 Pinterest pin titles and descriptions with keywords for: [topic]."
7. "Write a 20-second video script: hook, 3 points, call to action."
8. "List objections a reader might have to [tool] and honest answers."
9. "Create a comparison table of [tool A] vs [tool B] by price, free plan, best for, trade-off. Mark anything you're unsure of."
10. "Summarize this article in 5 bullets and list the claims I should fact-check."
11. "Write a welcome email that asks one question readers can reply to."
12. "Suggest a lead magnet my audience would trade an email for, with a 1-page outline."

Tip: paste 2-3 examples of your past writing first and say "match this voice."

10. Budget stacks

Budget	Stack
$0/mo	beehiiv free + ChatGPT free + Canva free + Buffer free + CapCut
~$50/mo	beehiiv paid tier (referrals + ads) + one AI assistant subscription + Canva Pro
~$150/mo	Above + Systeme.io paid (sell a product) + ElevenLabs + Descript

Prices are approximate and change often; confirm on each vendor's site.
